Hi Vivan,

In planning for a meeting - can I ask for an agenda, or at least who will be attending? So I can have the correct technical folks on the call?

The update I have from our staff is that initial data transfer is complete- Gerard/Chris will be providing us a schedule of prioritized cut overs so we can plan for the final data transfer - likely to be the week of March 9. I know Chris has been working with our Program Manager and team almost daily.

Vivian,

It was nice talking with you this morning. As requested here is our response:

As I understand it, CTAC is using the process and file formats previously established as standard practice when GSA migrated from both CGI and ASTO to the current CMP/ECAS platform.

CTAC is open to discussing other methods for delivering data as part of our contract close out: DVDs, External USB Drives, etc...

However, please keep in mind some of the potential new methods our technical team has heard being discussed such as AWS <-> AWS direct transfers would put CTAC and GSA at risk.

Connecting the CMP/ECAS platform to a 3rd party system (that may or may not have an ATO) would have security risks that would not be documented or accounted for under the current CMP/ECAS ATO.

Also a risk for CTAC and GSA would be AWS transfer costs that CTAC would have no control over under our fixed price contract extension. AWS costs could exceed what CTAC is currently funded for. We would want to have acknowledgement that GSA understands and accepts both of those risks (security and financial) before engaging in a technical conversation on moving forward with that (or similar) approaches.

Also, it should be noted that from what we have heard regarding cutover activities, there seems to be a misconception that data transfer is the only/main issue. Based on our understanding, the data transfer format is a very minor detail compared to other technical hurdles regarding implementing a new REI/GSA platform within REI's proposed timeframe. We have brought this to the attention of both REI leadership and GSA leadership.

Hello (b) (6)

Thank you for your response. I will pass this information on to the Program Office. These services are of vital importance to the Government and must be continued without interruption. Your last modification expires on March 17, 2020. To not have a lapse in service, Continuity of Services, (FAR 52.237-3) is being considered. I will keep informed.

Thank You

Attached is the software license inventory with CTAC's comments regarding which license they are willing to transfer. There does not appear to be any significant concern on our part now that we have received this listing.

We will need to get the license numbers from CTAC.
We will also need to work with the original software manufacturer to ensure the transfers can actually be executed.

Vivian,

Confirming receipt of your email. Also per the 1/15 meeting, attached please find 2 documents. We will have the appropriate resources available to speak to these during Wednesday's scheduled meeting.

1. The PDF is based on several government entities definitions/diagrams of a PaaS. We thought providing that would structure future conversations.
2. A spreadsheet of assets. The sheet breaks out the assets as defined in the structure set up in the PDF. Essentially it is showing which assets are part of the platform (and it's subcomponents) vs. applications.

Do note we did not have a chance to thoroughly review the "Punch List" and compare it against what we were developing prior to this submission. Some information may conflict such as we mentioned that we hadn't received a request for JIRA data, but believe that has now been requested via the "Punch List" (and will be provided).

Enjoy the long weekend,
(b) (6)
